PRIVATE SECTOR NETWORK

UN-GGIM PSN: Purpose

This Private Sector Network (PSN) is intended to facilitate direct connections and communication between the private sector and Member States in order for the private sector to collaborate with the Member States on global geospatial initiatives.

The PSN shall facilitate ongoing collaboration between and among UN-GGIM members and PSN participants to develop, build, and extend the world's capacity to benefit from geospatial information, thereby enabling countries to develop capacity in geospatial information, technologies, and services.

Recognising the private sector's expertise, the PSN will create opportunities for this expertise to assist the UN-GGIM in developing national, regional, and global policies, processes, practices, capacities, and recommendations for geospatial information infrastructure.

PSN Board Vision

An active Private Sector Network (PSN) of representatives working in a mutually beneficial collaboration with the members of UN-GGIM to play a leading role in setting the agenda for the development of global geospatial information and to promote its use to address key global challenges, enable citizen services and support the initiatives of the United Nations, particularly the global development agenda.

UNGGIM-PSN is voluntary self-organised group and shall have its own process and policies. Though UNGGIM Secretariat doesn't influence or interfere in day-to-day functioning, it's expected that PSN process and programs are compliant and aligned with UNGGIM goals and guidelines. Based on experiences and feedback PSN Secretariat provides the following for consideration by members and officials of PSN:

- PSN members and officials should provide and commit sufficient time to lead and organize the activities of PSN.
- PSN members and officials should inbuild the cost of travel on their own to important UNGGIM Bureau meetings and regional meetings, respectively.
- PSN members and officials shall be conscious of any potential conflict of interest while representing PSN and engaging with member states.

Background

The value and utility of geospatial information in society and the world economy has been expanding exponentially in line with its growing maturity and is now finding relevance in almost every human endeavour. Geospatial information is not just an enabler for our day to day activity, but is a driver for innovation, development and excellence in and across countries, bringing disruption to business models, but ultimately creating significant social and economic value; to such an extent as to aggregate an economy around itself.

This value has been recognized by the United Nations in the context of global development and prosperity, particularly for developing countries and the most vulnerable. Recognizing the urgent need to take concrete action to strengthen international cooperation in the area of global geospatial information management, the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) established the United Nations Committee of Experts on Global Geospatial Information Management (UN-GGIM) in July 2011 (ECOSOC Resolution 2011/24). In making its decision, ECOSOC encouraged the Committee of Experts to hold regular high-level, multi-stakeholder discussions on global geospatial information, including through the convening of global forums, with a view to promoting a comprehensive dialogue with all relevant actors and bodies.

From its inception UN-GGIM has recognized the integral role of academic, research, professional and private sector stakeholders in achieving its goals of promoting the global use of geospatial information for evidence-based decision making, and more recently exploiting the role of geospatial information in assisting with the measurement and monitoring of the UN Sustainable Development Goals. Through many individual stakeholders, the private sector have been actively participating in and contributing to the process of UN-GGIM at the global and regional levels over the past five years. However, there has been recognition that a more coordinated network would provide greater benefit and improved connection and communication for both private sector stakeholders and the Committee's Member States,

The Beijing Declaration on Sustainable Development with Geospatial Information, issued at the conclusion of the Third UN-GGIM High Level Forum in Beijing, China on 24 October 2014, encouraged global, regional and national collaboration and capacity building in the promotion and development of geospatial information management for measuring and monitoring sustainable development, and in partnership with the contribution and ongoing role played by other intergovernmental organizations, international non-government organizations, academia and industry in supporting this important global process.

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development called for the promotion of transparent and accountable scaling-up of appropriate public-private cooperation to exploit the contribution to be made by a wide range of data, including earth observations and geospatial information, while ensuring national ownership in supporting and tracking progress (Para 76). The 2016 Progress Report towards the Sustainable Development
